

Carlos Bulosan

...was an Asian-American author whose books and poems talked about living in America. Carlos was born in the Philippines and when he was seventeen, he emigrated to America where he lived for the rest of his life. Carlos liked to write about how things can be hard and sometimes unfair in our country but that things get better if we all care for each other and be respectful to everyone. One of his greatest works is a book called America Is In the Heart.
